cline of the Death Rate. The report from the health department shows another material improvement in the con pared with the previous week there was a decline of over 17 per cent in the total mortality. The death rate for the white population fell to as low as thirteen per thousand inhabitants. The comparatively higher rate among the colored was partly owing to a large number of deaths of young children and of old people. Out of all the zymotic class of diseases, which includes the contagious maladies, there were but nine fatal cases. No death from either diphtheria, scarlet fever or typhoid fever was reported. There was also a total absence of fatal malarial cases. Whatever other reason the people of Washington may ments of every seasonable delicacy were served from a flower-decked table in the

its best when in an animated conversation. Characteristic of her disposition was the gown of light blue silk and chiffon which she wore to meet for the first time the crit-ical eye of society assembled. She was more simply gowned than any of her guests. Accenting her welcome, came that of the French ambassador, upon whom congratu-lations were showered for his good fortune in winning such a charming wife. The pleasurable interest which so many en-joyed in seeing his bride for the first time was amply gratified and the first impression was certainly a most successful one. Mr. De Commines, Capt. and Mrs. De Grand-prey and Mr. Jules Boeufve of the embassy were all present. While the host and hostess were always surrounded, most of the company soon found their way to the verandas, and then to the lawns, where, separating in couples or groups, for strolls to the furthermost points, the extensive grounds were soon dotted over and every part took on life and animation. Refresh-a panorama of great interest and beauty.

It was a pretty sight, for one reason, be-cause it was quite an unusual one, to watch the splendid equipages rolling up under the porte cochere, and their well-dressed occu-

and punch on the veranda. The toilets worn by the ladles were suggestive of a July garden party at Saratoga. Nearly all were light, and the majority of the most striking were sprigged muslins, flowered organides and lawns, trimmed $20 Gas Ranges, $15 $22 Gas Ranges, $17 with lace-edged flounces and frills.

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was thronged this morning by the friends assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Lola Lamar Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Notley Young, to Mr. Jas. Francis Du Hamel. The high altar was tastefully decorated with bridal flowers and illuminated by many gleaming tapers. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. S. F. Ryan. The ushers were Messrs. J. Du Hamel Moulton, D. Car-roll Digges, Dr. C. Breckinridge Boyle and

Chas. D. Govern.

The bride, who is a young lady of many graces of both mind and person, was gowned in white chiffen over white silk, and trimmed with knots of white velvet. She wore a becoming hat trimmed in white and carried a bouquet of illies-of-the-valley.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Young entertained the bridal party and the two families at a wedding breakfast. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Du Hamel started on a northern tour, and after their return will reside at 1859 18th expect. return will reside at 1839 16th street.

The Georgetown Convent Alumnae Asso ciation held its second annual meeting and ciation held its second annual meeting and luncheon today at the Shoreham. The meet-ing was called to order at 11 o'clock by the president, Mrs. William Tucker, and in the exchange of pleasant greetings, friendly confidences and schoolday reminiscences, a great deal of what was briefly called busi-ness, was accomplished. The practical business of organization was so thoroughly fin-ished up at the meeting last May, a year ago exactly today, that there is little now for the association to do in following up the lines then planned. One of the subjects under discussion today was the endowment of a scholarship in some college or convent, to which the surplus revenue of the society will go. This idea met with general approval. The association is thriving in every way. New members have been added during the year, and none of the first entha-siasm has been dimmed.

After the business was over the ladies listered with delight to an address by Right Rev. John J. Keane, rector of the Catholic University, in which the aims and work of the association were eloquently commended. The coming of the bishop was a great surprise to the ladies, who had no idea that he had been invited by the president.

At 2 o'clock the ladies sat down to a banquet. The table was great to the had.
